*A Sunday Reflection
by István Horváth
October 9, 2022*

“... be filled with the Spirit, ... singing and playing to the Lord in your hearts, giving thanks always and for everything in the name of Our Lord, Jesus Christ to God the Father!” Eph 5:18b-20

“And whatever you do, in word or in deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through Him.” Col 3:17

Is giving thanks part of our lives?

We might think this is common courtesy to thank someone for helping us deal with our problems or getting us through a crisis, but more often than not, people feel they have a right to receive help no matter how frivolous their need.

However, this is not the case. Jesus on many occasions demonstrates and says to His disciples, as well as those that seek to follow Him, that you must take the initiative to be helped. Mt 7:7-8, 21:22; Mk 11:24; Jn 14:13-14; Phil 4:6 In other words, you must exercise your free will to ask for help from God, as well as your fellow man. Doing so manifests the gravity of your helplessness. But asking for help does not mean we necessarily deserve that help. Mt 7:21 In fact, more often than not we don't know what we want; we merely want for the sake of receiving something we may see, hear or find others receiving without regard to the context of that want. 'Careful what you pray for, you might just get it.'

Asking for help shows you are serious about receiving help, and it also shows your humility in accepting it from others without constraint or condition. This is if you truly want and need help. Because there are plenty of examples of people showing or pretending need, but not truly dependent on it.

As Christians, we should be open to helping others even when they don't ask for help, to practice our charity towards them. When we practice helping people regularly, we recognize those among us that don't ask, but are truly in need. And above all, if we are recipients of help, let us not forget to thank Him too and those that gave it. “Jesus said in reply, ‘Ten were cleansed, were they not? Where are the other nine? Has none, but this foreigner returned to give thanks to God?’” Lk 17:17-18
